Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 12 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Remaining unsettled with showers continuing in days to come.

Today:
Sunny spells and showers during the morning, these heavy and possibly thundery for a time. Becoming cloudier in the afternoon with persistent heavy rain arriving from the South, although this should avoid Cornwall. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Persistent heavy rain and cloud will continue through the evening and night for most. Cornwall to have the driest and clearest conditions, although will still see the occasional shower. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
A cloudy day with widespread rain breaking up into showers later in the afternoon. Becoming drier towards Bristol during the evening. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Unsettled throughout. Scattered showers and sunny intervals on Friday. An early band of rain on Saturday with following showers persisting into Sunday. Generally light winds, although breezier on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.